

FRAME, cemetery reborn

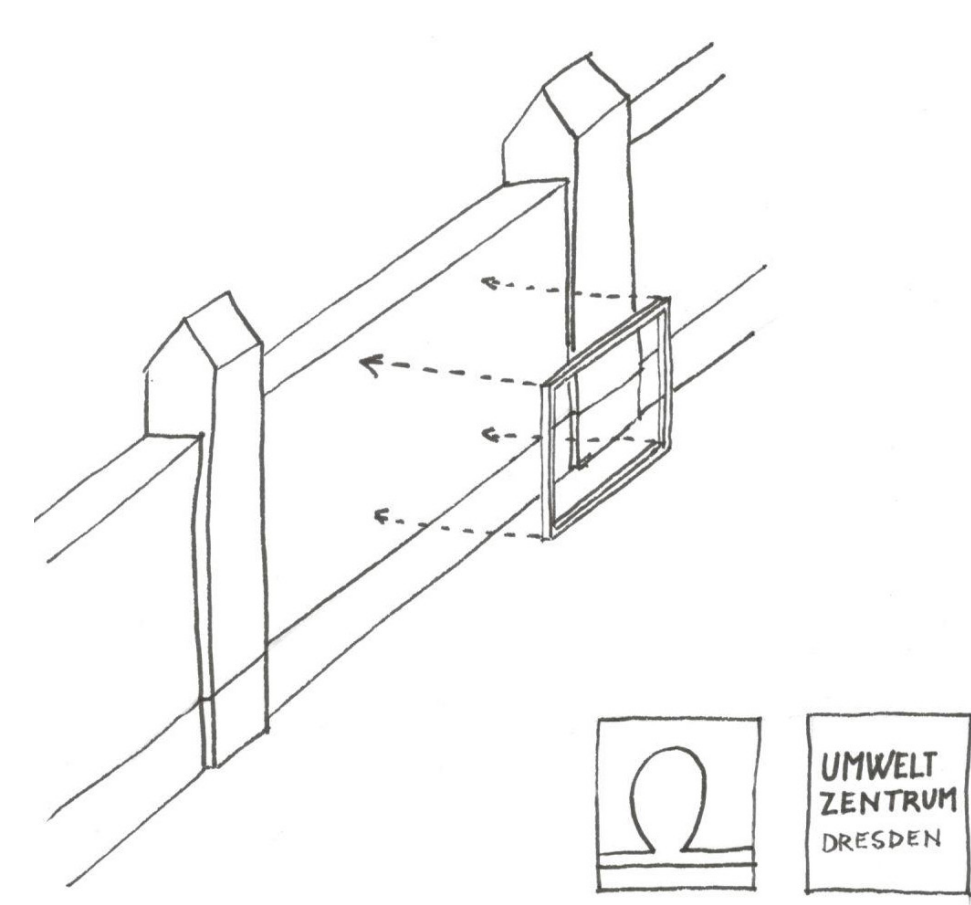

The former cemetery is located in the north-west of Dresden. It is used by Umweltzentrum Dresden and serves as a nursery. It has a potential to become a natural center for surroundings thanks to the amount of trees and the green area. World wars memorials create a unique mood.

MASTERPLAN 1:400

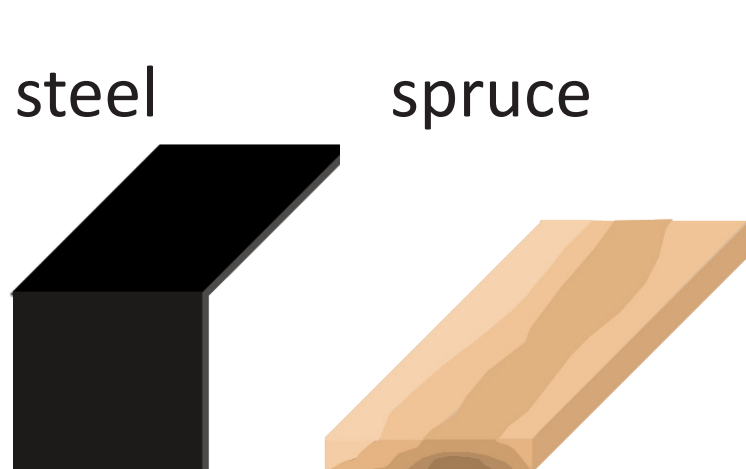

SECTION 1:400

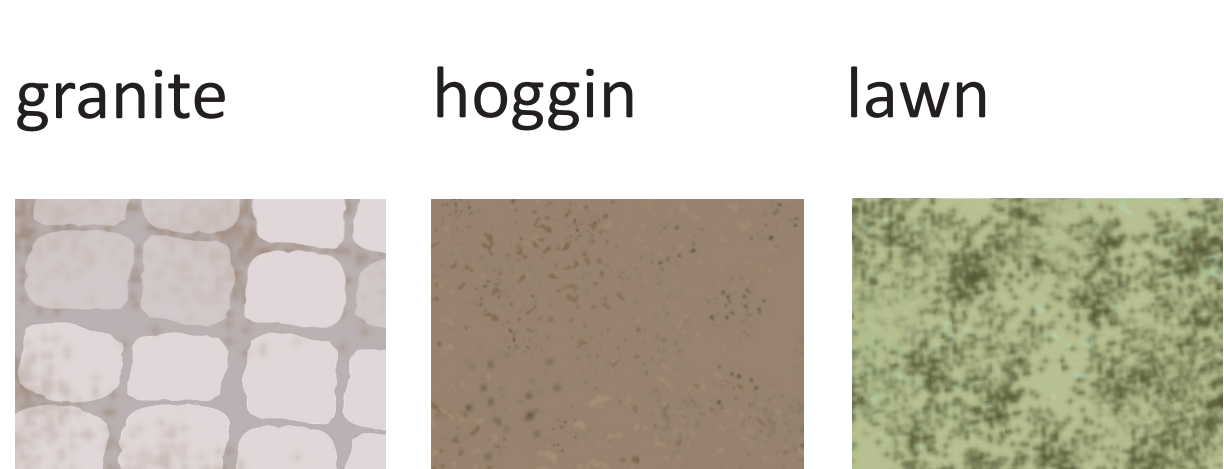

WATER MANAGEMENT

I design two underground tanks on the area of the cemetery. They should storage rain water from roofs of industry building in surroundings. The parking will be created as a place with two layers of gravel with a lawn on the top.

MATERIAL

SURFACE

VEGETATION

As a supplement of current state according to age
Acer platanoides and Corylus colurna
Quercus robur and Tilia cordata
Fraxinus excelsior

NURSERY

The nursery space is separated by a fence and is used in the same way as nowadays.

MEMORY PATH

The part with memorials and graves is named as the path of history. Each monuments should be "framed". We stop there for a while and think about our ancestors. Another idea is the fact, that we can choose the way how we want to perceive the history. In this case we can go the opposite way of the path and we will see a different pictures. But it doesn't mean the history doesn't affect us. There is still the frame and the path leads through it.

COMMUNITY SPACE

The community space is equipped by blackboards and a bench on a meadow, which would serve as a picnic place or for example a wedding spot. And two movable object are hanging frames on the wall for a contemporary exhibition and movable boards with information about seasonal events.

