

SMICHOV HYBRID

Located in Smichov, Prague, the building is situated on the not finished block structure, surrounded with old buildings and streets. The main idea behind the design was following the all ready applied rules on the location according to the old buildings and creating small square in front of the west façade with perforation that connects inner atrium with the square. The north façade is a big volume following the line of Botanice street. Because of the diverse of the program, and the need of better illumination of the housing part we created perforation on the façade that became a green spaces and vertical garden. On the ground floor there is a void in the volume that connects the street with the inner atrium and allows entrances in the building. The program in the building is very diverse, it includes offices, library, gym, housing and art centre. On the north-east side we saw a potential of connecting the empty wall on the schools south façade, there we added a two story volume with housing program creating the Smichov Gate, also right next to the school we added an small auditorium for the purposes of the school as well as the purposes of the performance centre and the city. On the roof of the auditorium is a green garden that serves like an extended balcony for the school and it is connected with a bridge to the library.
