OKBACK

The lumbar support with heating is an innovative product designed to ensure proper support of the lower back. It helps prevent pain and improves posture during long periods of sitting. Thanks to the possibility of heating, it provides additional comfort, which is especially useful in colder conditions or for pain relief and muscle relaxation. In addition, it helps with menstrual pain or bladder problems.

The back is ergonomically shaped for maximum comfort. It can be individually customised with an inflatable padding that allows the shape and stiffness to be adjusted according to the user's needs. It offers several fixing options and a non-slip surface. It is suitable for use at home, in the office and on the move.
